DETAILED ACTIONContinued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on February 6, 2007 has been entered.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because they appear to be informal drawings making features of Applicant's invention difficult to understand. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement-drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the examiner does not accept the changes, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 1 is provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of copending Application No. 11/155,597. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the difference between the claim of the present application and the claim of the copending application is that the claim of the copending application includes many more elements and is thus more specific. Thus the invention of claim 1 of the copending application is in effect a "species" of the "generic" invention of claim 1 of the present application. It has been held that the generic invention is "anticipated" by the "species." See In re Goodman, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Since claim 1 of the present application is anticipated by claim 1 of the copending application, it is not patentably distinct from claim 1 of the copending application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claims 1, 4, 7, 12-18 and 21 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,981,990 in view of Beyersdorff et al. (US 7,118,580).

The patented claims disclose all elements of the claimed invention except for a cervical prosthesis having a top closure plate, a bottom closure plate and a core and various features of the insertion instrument.

Beyersdorff et al. supply the missing elements.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have utilized the device of the patented claims with the Beyersdorff et al. implant, for purposes of inserting the implant since it was well known in the art to use an inserter for inserting an intervertebral prosthesis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7, 9, 11-18 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, it is unclear what structure Applicant is trying to claim. Applicants must positively recite either openings or projections.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-7, 9, 12-18 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Beyersdorff et al. (US 7,118,580).

Beyersdorff et al. disclose: an intervertebral prosthesis including a top plate 6, a bottom plate 9 and a sliding core 14; an insertion instrument having a handle designed as a strike head, and a gripping portion for engaging the top and bottom plates of the prosthesis with corresponding projections 20 on the instrument for insertion of the prosthesis; wherein the insertion instrument has a push member or block 40 for applying an insertion force to the intervertebral prosthesis (Figs. 2-5 and 8-10, col. 5, lines 28-67, col. 6 and col. 7, lines 1-27).

Claims 1-7, 9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Errico et al. (US 2003/0069586A1).

Errico et al. disclose an intervertebral prosthesis having a top plate, a bottom plate and a sliding core; an insertion instrument 500 with a handgrip 508, the instrument having projections or pins (506a, 506b); wherein the pins are received in openings (122a, 122b) of the bottom plate or openings 130a, 130b of the top plate for inserting the prosthesis (Figs. 1a-1f, 5p-5z, paras [0060]-[0063], [0067] and [0079]-[0080])

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the pending claims in the response filed on February 2, 2007 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Although, the response indicated that a terminal disclaimer was included no such document was found. Accordingly, the Examiner is maintaining the double patenting rejections.

The allowability of subject matter indicated to be allowable in the previous office action is being withdrawn due to new rejections made in this office action.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
